

WARY PHYSICIANS FAIL TO FILE VITAL REPORTS

Delay Hampers Health Work in Richmond, Dr. C. C. Hudson
Writes Practitioners.

Health Officer C. C. Hudson yesterday addressed a letter to physicians of Richmond calling attention to the law which provides for the reporting of vital and other statistics and complaining that this law is not being observed as it should be. He insists that doctors make prompt reports of all deaths, births and cases of sickness affecting the public welfare.

He especially insists that reports of infant deaths and other cases of infantile diseases and other cases of infantile diseases and other cases of infantile diseases be reported promptly. He declares in the letter that out of a total of 257 deaths from tuberculosis in 1919 only 128 had been reported prior to death. Dr. Hudson also calls attention to the large number of infant deaths that might be prevented if proper report is made and attention given.

The letter follows:
Some physicians are careless in reporting infantile diseases, tuberculosis cases and births. Of fifty-nine deaths in Richmond during 1919 from diarrhoea and enteritis, under two years of age, forty-two had not been reported prior to death.
Of a total of 257 deaths in 1919 from tuberculosis, 128 had not been reported prior to death.

Chicago School Officials Ban Many of More Objectionable Dance Features

CHICAGO, May 15.—School dances in Chicago this summer will be on the safe side, according to the following set of rules have been drawn up by the High School Dances' Association:
"Partners face one another, six or seven inches apart (bring your own ruler), bodies parallel, shoulders parallel with the heads erect. Leader places his right hand lightly between the shoulders of his partner, keeping the right elbow how wet away from his body, his left hand extended, palm up, clasps his partner's right hand. "Partners' left hand rests lightly just behind the ear of the leader's shoulder; her elbow is just above the leader's, but not touching."

"A straight line from these bent elbows would be parallel with both bodies."
"All wriggling and writhing movements and melting into one another's arms are taboo."

physicians in ten days after delivery, as required by the State law.

The City Health Bureau employs seven nurses, who do instructive work for the prevention of deaths in infants under 1 year of age. They give special attention to the prevention of deaths from infantile diarrhoea. During 1919 there were 118 deaths of infants under 1 year of age, 254 of which were under 2 months old. It is very important that all births be filed with the health bureau at the earliest moment after delivery, if the nurses' work is to show the best results.

The nurses visit all tuberculosis cases, supply sputum outfits, printed precautions, urge the importance of physical examination of these exposed, arrange for children in the home to get into open-air classes at school or to open-air camps in summer, try to get all in the house into the open air at night, arrange for more nutritious food where necessary, and do many other things to assist the patient and help to prevent the infection of others, or to so train them in correct living that the disease will not become active if they are already infected. These things cannot be done unless the cases are reported and the earlier the report the better.

Your outfit box contains a list of reportable diseases and report forms. If any forms are out, a new supply will be sent on request.

We are writing to request that all physicians show their co-operation with the health bureau by making reports as the law directs.

VICTROLA

So well known is the Victrola's popularity that people have come to call any talking machine a Victrola. This is flattering to the VICTROLA, but dangerous, as it might lead to mistakes and substitution. There is but one genuine VICTROLA, and that is made by the VICTOR Company.
